City of South Fulton Mayor William Bill Edwards Attends STEM Banner Presentation to Evoline C. West Elementary School

First school in South Fulton to become State-Certified in STEM

(CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, GEORGIA, Thursday, September 27) On Tuesday, September 25, 2018, Mayor William “Bill” Edwards attended the STEM banner presentation to one of South Fulton’s amazing elementary schools.

State School Superintendent Richard Woods presented Evoline C. West Elementary School with its STEM Banner on Tuesday, September 25, 2018 and officially welcomed the school into the state’s cluster of certified STEM schools.

“I am so very proud to have witnessed such a momentous occasion as Evoline C. West Elementary School became the first school in the City South Fulton to achieve the State STEM School certification,” stated Mayor William “Bill” Edwards. “The school has worked hard for this prestigious designation and this is a wonderful achievement for not only the students, faculty and staff, but the parents and community as well.”

Evoline C. West Elementary is the first school in South Fulton and the fourth in the district to become state-certified in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM).
