Goodwill Opens First Career Center in the City of South Fulton

(CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, GA – January 27, 2020) – Enhanced economic mobility is coming to the City of South Fulton.

Goodwill of North Georgia held a grand opening and ribbon cutting for its newest career center at the Old National Town Center located at 6175 Old National Highway, Suite 120 Atlanta, GA 30349.

The center is projected to provide job training and employment services to as many as 8,000 individuals annually and help up to half of them find jobs.

“Goodwill is a shining example of what it means to, not only do business in a community but, become a vital part of the fabric of that community,” said Mayor William “Bill” Edwards. “We are excited to have this wonderful partnership that, so immensely, benefits the entire community.”

The opening of the career center means more jobs for City of South Fulton residents.

“The grand opening of our Old National Career Center only furthers our mission to put people to work,” said Keith T. Parker, president and CEO of Goodwill of North Georgia. “Having a career center in the heart of Fulton County is critical and long overdue.

“We look forward to supporting members of the community to connect them with a job, a better job, and finally, a career,” he continued. “This grand opening is the first step in the right direction to increase income mobility for countless neighbors.”
