Residents and Business Owners Share their Experiences at the 2019 Mayor's Community Walk

(CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, GEORGIA, November 13, 2019) Mayor William "Bill" Edwards, District 1 Councilwoman Catherine Rowell and City of South Fulton department heads, employees and staff connected with residents and business owners during the 2019 Mayor's Community Walk held in District 1. The event took place on Wednesday, November 13, 2019 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Sandtown Crossing Shopping Center.

The walk allowed city officials to meet business owners and managers where they are most vested and address their issues in real time.

Mayor William "Bill" Edwards said he wants to continue to partner with local businesses. He explained that he cannot do that sitting in City Hall offices.

"We have to get up, get out and hear what people have to say," said Mayor William "Bill" Edwards. "The Mayor's Community Walk gives us an opportunity to hear the questions and feedback business owners have about the city. This is the only place where government meets business to listen to their concerns."

Councilwoman Rowell said it is important to be proactive and engage with the community. She explained that the city wants to take a hands-on approach to show they are equally concerned about residents and businesses.

“I’m proud that business owners said the area felt safe,” said Councilwoman Rowell. “Several residents and businesses gave us a 10 out of 10, and we cannot be prouder than that. There are not many city’s that will engage with the community like the City of South Fulton.”
