South Fulton Using $16 Million in TSPLOST Funding to Pave 170 Miles of Roads

(CITY OF SOUTH FULTON, GA – May 18, 2021) – Nearly one-third of paved city roads in the City of South Fulton will undergo makeovers in coming weeks as officials start a $16-million effort to make travel safer for citizens.

A significant number of resurfacing projects, which are being funded through transportation special purpose local option sales tax (TSPLOST) funds, has started in area subdivisions this week. Residents will see public works crews in their neighborhoods milling and paving roads through the fall.

“Residents deserve streets that are safe and attractive,” said mayor William “Bill” Edwards. “The days of potholes are numbered as we work to refresh our roads.”

The resurfacing initiative began Monday, May 17, and will continue on different days in the following subdivisions: Canaan Woods, Canaan Walk, Canaan Glen and Canaan Trace. Nearly 60 subdivisions in all will undergo resurfacing.

“Repairs will include the milling and resurfacing of nearly 170 miles of roadway,” said Antonio Valenzuela, the city’s director of public works. “The anticipated date of completion is the end of October.”

Residents can find a complete list of resurfacing projects and their start and completion dates on the city’s website at cityofsouthfultonga.gov.
