South Fulton Plans January 9 Ribbon Cutting for Butner, Stonewall Tell Dual Roundabouts

(City of South Fulton, GA – January 4, 2023) – City of South Fulton officials say traffic will flow smoother and motorists will be safer as the city opens new dual roundabouts at Butner and Stonewall Tell roads next week.

The city plans a ribbon cutting for the improved intersection Monday, January 9, at 10 a.m.

“We are excited to unveil this new intersection, which is the first of its kind in the city,” said Public Works Director Antonio Valenzuela. “The roundabouts greatly improve the flow of traffic at this busy crossroads, making it safer for motorists, cyclists and pedestrians.”

The project includes realignment of the approach roadways into dual roundabouts in the southern and northern corners of the previous intersection. The intersection consists of 12-foot lanes, 5-foot sidewalks behind a 2-foot stamped concrete strip and a 12-foot-wide trail in the northeast quadrant.

The development was completed through a partnership between the City of South Fulton Public Works Department and Georgia Department of Transportation’s Office of Program Delivery. Public Works managed engineering, rights-of-way acquisition and inspections during each phase of the project.

“We added streetlights and crosswalks for pedestrian crossings,” Valenzuela said. “The project also includes attractive stamped concrete inlays and landscaping inside the roundabouts.”

Piedmont Paving completed the actual construction, which cost around $2.3 million. Funding was secured from a combination of federal and local sources.
